Move Delete button to appear on the left with a white border. I assume this only appear on mouse hover?

Adding an additional Row should be the same as all other tables
Text on every 'Add Row' should use the appropriate word.

Only if a Template is chosen show the Template Name and allow them to edit name and save.

Save Button saves the page just like the save button at the bottom. If the template name was changed it would be saved as well.

Only when the user clicks [Save as Template] Button does the popup appear to allow them to give it a name and click save.
